

To: Hillenbrand, John[Hillenbrand.John@epa.gov]
From: Jason Zimmerman
Sent: Mon 10/21/2013 2:27:28 PM
Subject: The 15 Steps to Successful Rehabilitation for Mines

Email not displaying properly? View it on your browser

Dear John,

The number of challenges facing your mine rehabilitation process may seem endless. That's where a guideline comes in handy.

This complimentary article details a list of 15 steps for a successful mine rehabilitation and closure process. Hear from experts in the industry who will discuss best practices in person at the upcoming Mine Rehabilitation and Closure Planning Summit this November 18-19 in Las Vegas.

The 15 Steps to Successful
Rehabilitation
(for mines)

The number of challenges facing your mine rehabilitation process may seem endless. You may be strapped with concerns over regulatory and financial issues, determining the best practices in reclamation and geo-technical issues, and many more.

This article lists 15 recommended steps for a successful mine rehabilitation and closure process, as determined by the

Mineral Council of Australia.

Learn more about the following topics at the upcoming conference:

- Effective Planning for Rehabilitation and Closure
 - With Katherine Fredriksen, SVP of Environmental Strategy and Regulatory Affairs, Consol Energy
- Planning and Designing Reclamation Closure
 - With Roger Funston, Environmental Manager, Kinross Gold
- Effective Management of Top Soil to Facilitate Quicker Land Rehabilitation
 - With John Barta, Environmental Manager, Veris Gold Corp.

Download the brochure here to see a complete list of sessions and topics. We hope to see you in November in Las Vegas.

Kind Regards,
Jason Zimmerman
Conference Producer

P.S. Take a look at who you could meet and network with at the upcoming summit.

This is an advertisement sent by : IQPC North America
535 Fifth Ave, 8th Floor New York, NY 10017, USA

Go here to opt out of receiving future communications from us or to modify your email profile.
We respect your right to privacy. View our policy